Further objects are to establish and/or carry on business in relation to Decarbonization and energy efficiency, battery storage solutions, alternative fuel cell technology and climate change issues in accordance with Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) schemes/policies or Ministry of Power or any such department of Govt of India (GoI) and its PSU/companies and Govt. of Maharashtra (GoM) Energy dept's Renewable Energy Policy as amended from time to time and all incidental and allied activities required for such business.
- III. Solarization of institutions under the Higher and Technical Education Department (HTE), Government of Maharashtra

As part of this initiative, MAHAPREIT proposes to implement a comprehensive program for the solarization of institutions under the Higher and Technical Education Department (HTE), Government of Maharashtra. The objective of the program is to reduce the dependence of educational institutions on conventional grid electricity, lower electricity expenditure, promote clean energy adoption, and contribute to the State's renewable energy and sustainability targets. The program is also aligned with the broader objectives of creating green campuses, improving energy efficiency, and reducing carbon emissions across government institutions.

The proposed solarization initiative covers multiple institutions under the Directorate of Technical Education and Higher & Technical Education Department and aims to deploy solar power systems through a combination of distributed and centralized renewable energy models.

The project envisages an aggregate solar capacity of approximately 45 MW, implemented through a mix of three different deployment mechanisms designed to optimize the energy usage patterns and infrastructure availability of the institutions. These mechanisms include Net Metering based rooftop solar systems, Behind-the-Meter solar installations, and Open Access solar power projects.

Approximately 45 MW of solar capacity is proposed across about 57 institutions, with an estimated system size of around 250 kW per institution. Under the Net Metering model, approximately 15 MW solar systems will be installed on buildings of educational institutions, enabling them to generate electricity for their own consumption while exporting surplus power to the grid. The electricity generated from these systems will offset grid consumption, thereby reducing electricity bills and providing long-term financial savings to the institutions.

In addition to rooftop systems, the project also includes Behind-the-Meter solar installations with an estimated capacity of around 5 MW, intended primarily for specific loads such as hostels, mess facilities, and other campus infrastructure where direct solar consumption can be optimized. Under this arrangement, solar energy generated is directly utilized within the facility without exporting power to the grid, thereby reducing electricity procurement from distribution utilities and enhancing energy efficiency at the institutional level.

The third component of the program involves the development of Open Access solar power projects with an estimated capacity of approximately 25 MW. These projects will be developed on land parcels available with certain institutions having large land holdings. The electricity generated from these solar plants will be supplied to participating institutions through the open access framework, enabling them to procure renewable energy at a significantly lower tariff compared to conventional grid tariffs. Institutions providing land for such projects will receive lease rental income for the land utilized for solar installations.

The solarization program is proposed to be implemented primarily under the Renewable Energy Service Company (RESCO) model, also referred to as the OPEX model. Under this model, a private solar developer will invest in the solar assets, undertake project development, installation, operation, and maintenance, and supply electricity to the institutions under a long-term Power Purchase Agreement (PPA). The beneficiary institutions will not be required to incur upfront capital expenditure and will instead pay for the electricity generated at an agreed tariff for the duration of the contract. This structure ensures minimal financial burden on the institutions while enabling rapid deployment of renewable energy infrastructure.

The program is expected to generate substantial economic and environmental benefits. By replacing conventional electricity consumption with solar energy, the initiative is projected to deliver significant savings in electricity expenditure for participating institutions over the life cycle of the projects. In addition, the deployment of solar power across campuses will contribute to substantial carbon emission reductions, supporting the State's climate action goals and renewable purchase obligations (RPO). The initiative will also help establish government educational institutions as sustainable and energy-efficient green campuses.

Given the multi-institutional nature of the project, the involvement of multiple implementation models, and the requirement for financial structuring, developer selection, and project monitoring, MAHAPREIT intends to appoint a Project Management Unit (PMU) and Transaction Advisory Consultant. The consultant will support MAHAPREIT in project planning, preparation of detailed project reports, structuring of the implementation framework, bid process management for selection of developers, financial advisory for project financing, and overall monitoring and coordination of project implementation.
